CITY-COUNTY HOSPITAL PLAN FINDS FAVOR

Joint Effort Given Tentative Approval at Meeting of Interested Parties.

The hospital problem for Marion county appeared to be a step nearer solution today following a joint meeting last night of the county commissioners, members of the council and directors of the Marion Civic Planning association.

The meeting held at the Hotel Harding found both councilmen and commissioners in tentative agreement upon a course of action that would provide a new hospital. Further, the Civic Planning association board of directors voted to recommend support of a program along the lines outlined last night to the associa-tion.

Those present at the meeting were virtually unanimous in the opinion that the hospital question could best be met by construction of a new hospital on a county-wide basis.

This course of action would call for a bond issue for hospital construction to be placed before the county voters as a whole rather than for a separate vote by city and county residents.

May Vote in Fall

It appears likely that the bond issue will be presented to the voters this fall as more than four months remain in which to reach a final agreement on how the plans are to be carried out.

Mayor Harry L. Dowler, who set up the joint meeting, served as chairman, stating in his opening remarks that the conference had been called for consideration of the hospital problem, as vital a problem as we have in this community.

He called on County Prosecutor James E. Reed for a review of legal requirements affecting a joint hospital construction program. The prosecutor indicated that four ways are available for action.

They are 1—the city could build a hospital on its own; 2—the county could build a hospital and vote a bond issue; 3—the city and townships in the county could jointly build a hospital and 4—the county could enter an agreement with the city to build a hospital.

Mayor Dowler declared that the city cannot possibly undertake such a project alone, pointing out that it is already within approximately $800,000 of its bonded indebtedness limit of $2,000,000.

"In my opinion it is either a city-county joint project or county by itself," he declared.

Question Raised

Question was raised by Planning Association president Bernard Peterson: What about participation of the townships outside Marion county? Mayor Dowler reported that to date none have shown interest in participating in a hospital construction project.

Mayor Dowler reporting on hospital costs said that a new 100 bed hospital here would cost $1,-7000 or $12,800 per bed, equipped and ready for use. A 150 bed hospital would cost $1,839,-0 he said, adding that the figures quoted were furnished by Dr. A. J. Borosky, hospitals quality chief, and were maximum rather than minimum estimates.

Mayor Dowler also had cost figures for a general hospital with additional health center facilities that were reported was $2,190,000, of which the federal government could contribute a third, leaving approximately $1,400,000 to be raised locally if such a plan could be favored here.

Referring to the scope of a hospital construction project, Carl Feiner, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said: "It definitely should be a county-wide project. I have talked with people in the county. They realize the need for better hospital facilities and I am convinced they will support it."

Commissioners William Risch and Luther Mitchell echoed Lehner's viewpoint, adding that in their opinion the hospital question should be put to the vote of the entire county.

William G. Slack, president of the council, wondered if county residents fully understood that more than 60 per cent of the five-mill levy for hospital construction would be drawn from the city of Marion, and that county residents would not be considering the load.

"It is my opinion that a city-county agreement is the simplest way to meet the problem of better

HOME OF JUKE BOX AGENT IS ATTACKED

Galion Residence Target of Homemade Stench Bomb.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 8—Galion Police Chief James Walker called in outside help today to conduct an investigation into the hurling of what apparently was a homemade stench bomb into the home of a local juke distributor sometime after midnight last night.

Walker said the bomb comprised a fruit jar filled with some fluid with an offensive odor and might have been a stench bomb. He said he was turning the case over to a special investigator, however.

Bomb was thrown through the window of W. C. Deaton residence at 437 Harding Way West. According to Deaton's report to the police chief, he had gone to bed awakening about 3 a. m. to find the house filled with a pungent odor. Investigating, he found fragments of the jar, together with the head of a ball peen hammer, on the floor.

Deaton has an agency for the distribution of automatic coin operated music boxes.

"CEASE FIRE" ORDER QUIETS JERUSALEM

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, May 8 — Jerusalem's cease-fire, agreed to by both Arabs and Jews to allow negotiations for a permanent truce in the Holy City, went into effect today. In the first hour, not a shot was heard.

An official British communique said last night Arab military leaders ordered their forces to cease fire in the Holy City at noon (5 a. m., EST) today.

A Jewish agency spokesman commented, "The moment the Arabs stop firing we shall stop also."

The British statement said Arab league leaders agreed to the truce at a three-hour meeting in Jericho yesterday with Gen. Sir Alan Gordon Cunningham, Palestine high commissioner.

The session was attended by a United Nations truce commission composed of the consuls general of the United States, France and Belgium. Belief was expressed in some quarters that Arab and Jewish leaders have given the truce commission their terms for peace not only in Jerusalem, but in all Palestine. The British mandate in the Holy Land ends at midnight next Friday.

Growers Say Fruit Undamaged by Frost

Last night's frost, which followed a day of rain, did no damage to the fruit crop in this vicinity, a check revealed today. A drop in temperature last night brought the rain to an end and was accompanied by a high wind which kept up through the night. The fact that the wind was strong prevented the frost from damaging fruit or other vegetation. Had the wind been low, strawberries and other fruit would have suffered, growers say.

Fair and continued cool is the forecast with a prediction of considerable cloudiness and warmer with some rain by afternoon for Sunday.

Low temperature last night was 34 degrees. The maximum yesterday was 53. A year ago the high was 58 and the low 39.

Gilda Defies Board And Scores Hit At High School Prom

By The Associated Press

STERLING, Colo., May 8—Gilda Gray, the toast of the twenties for her "shimmy," was the toast of Sterling today. Part of Sterling, anyhow

She defied the school board and went to the high school junior-senior prom last night. And did the kids love it! Almost as much as their—and other—dads liked Gilda's famed dance

The students' enthusiasm wasn't shared by all their parents.

"We don't need this kind of publicity," said one disapproving mother as she left the dance.

For Gilda, though, it was a distinct triumph.

She came as guest of honor not as a dancer, but she did break down and dance one fox-trot with Carl A. Collins, the assistant principal who invited her.

"I'm having a wonderful time," she said as the boys and girls flocked around her for autographs

Dressed Decorously

Dressed decorously in a gold and gray gown and ermine wrap, Gilda didn't look her years—which she declined to reveal. Some records show she was born in Poland in October 1897. Her blond hair was upswept.

Dr. J. H. Jackson, school board president, who called the invitation "ill-advised," wasn't there.

The dance was held at the Elks hall. Around the room are the pictures of past exalted rulers. Dr. Jackson is one of them. During the afternoon, someone draped his picture with crepe. But the crepe was taken down before the dance.

Captivates Boys

Gilda said she cried when she heard the school board had cancelled her bid to the prom. But there were no tears in her eyes last night. Only stardust. She put on all her charm and captivated the boys.

"I wish I was young so I could come to the prom with a good-looking fellow like you," she said to one boy.

R. J. Carroll, superintendent of school, wasn't too captivated though. Collins asked him to lead the grand march with Gilda, but Carroll declined.

WARN RUSSIA MAY NOW RISK A SHOWDOWN

House Group Sees Possible "Rash Action" as Supporting Preparedness Needs.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 8—A congressional committee said today it believes "the Soviet Union may now be willing to risk a showdown" with the United States.

To forestall such a "rash decision" by Russian leaders, the house armed services committee said, this country should strengthen its ground and sea forces through a manpower draft. And it added:

"A 70-group air force is not a substitute for selective service."

Both the senate and house have approved expanding the nation's air arm from 55 to 70 groups over the next five years. But as yet they have taken no action on President Truman's request for a temporary draft and universal military training.

The house group's formal report—accompanied by a stinging dissent by a five-man minority—was issued as senate Republican leaders confirmed the top priority they have given all defense legislation between now and the June 19 adjournment date.

The committee majority recommended prompt passage of a bill by Chairman Andrews (R-NY) to draft men from 19 through 25 for two years' service. The committee approved the measure 28 to 5 last Monday.

Gen. Wainwright's Belief

The majority report's warning of possible Russian showdown intentions coincided with a statement by Gen. Jonathan Wainwright that the Russians would launch an all-out war only as a "last resort."

In a letter to Republican congressional leaders urging the return of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to testify on preparedness plans, Wainwright said:

"He (MacArthur) knows only too well that the present enemies of United States and our world desire first to accomplish their objective of the destruction of our constitutional democracy by means of revolution and civil war.

"Their last resort only would be real war from the land, sea and air."

The Bataan hero, now retired, said nothing to indicate he feels the Russians are ready for such action.

But the house committee said recent Soviet moves in Europe—such as the Communist victory in Czechoslovakia — have convinced it that "the Soviet union may now be willing to risk a showdown on the assumption that the future can bring only a worsening of the Soviet position."

This drew a sharp retort from the minority headed by Rep. Short (R-Mo.).

"This is a program for war," declared the five-man dissenting group. "We do not believe that a sound and adequate defense system requires the police-state methods of compulsion."

Passage of the Andrews bill, their report said, "would be one of the most tragic errors which could be committed by congress" and would be interpreted "by all nations of the world to mean that this country expects war."

City To Install New Traffic Lights in Business Section

In a statement issued today E. O. Uncapher, city safety-service director announced that a long standing complaint of local and visiting motorists will be removed shortly. New traffic lights over the center of all downtown intersections will be installed in the near future.

Contracts for the purchase of the new lights were awarded April 26 to the L. P. Wottring-Master Equipment Co. of Amherst, O.

Mr. Uncapher says the new lights will be of two different types to accommodate Marion's offset and conventional intersections.

The conventional intersections which will have standard traffic lights with three vertically mounted lights to a side on all four sides are Center and State streets, Center and Main, Center and Prospect, Church and State, Church and Main, and Church and Prospect.

Other Intersections

Three of Marion's downtown intersections are those at which three streets come together such as Center, Oak and Union streets; Center and Leader streets and Olney avenue, and Center and Campbell streets at Orchard street. All of those intersections will require four-way vertical offset lights which are made in three flexible unit mountings so the lights may be altered in position to face the peculiar angles formed by the street intersections. A similar set of lights will be employed at the odd angle intersection of Center and Greenwood streets.

The contract as accepted by the city calls for delivery of the lights to the city within a 10-day period but Mr. Uncapher stated there may be some delay in the mounting of the new lights because of other material shortages, such as wiring, or mounting and hanging equipment.

The cost of the standard lights runs to $169.10 each or $1,016.10 for the six lights.

Offset Lights Higher

Cost of the four offset lights will run slightly higher as the requirement of at least two lights per intersection must necessarily add to the cost. These lights will be four-way lights with one blank face and will cost $291.80 each or a total for the four of $1,179.20. All told the new lighting system exclusive of installation will cost $2,191.

Installation of the new lights is expected to be completed at the earliest possible date Mr. Uncapher said. No plans have been made for the mounting of the present street-side side arm lights now being used at the intersections where the new lights will be mounted.

The new lights are being installed in response to repeated complaints from the motoring public that on sunny days or during the Christmas decoration season the present traffic lights are almost invisible.

TRAIN IN WRECK NEAR SHELBY

No One Hurt as NYC Locomotive, 10 Cars Leave Track.

SHELBY, O., May 8—A New York Central mail and express train, hauling one passenger coach, was derailed today at Vernon Junction, but no one was injured.

The locomotive and 10 of the 14 cars went off the tracks about 8 a. m., two miles south of here. Three of the cars, refrigerator type, overturned. The passenger coach, at the end of the train, did not derail.

Engineer Herbert James said the derailment began at a grade crossing, "but I don't know what caused it."

The train was traveling about 45 miles an hour, he said, en route from Columbus to Cleveland. One set of tracks was torn up, but adjoining tracks were not damaged.

The conductor was George Goodrich and the fireman Nelson Clatterbush. Railroad workers who saw the train pass minutes before at Shelby said "something was dragging from the tender" and evidently caught on the crossing.

Engineer James, 62, later said that just before the wreck he noticed a burst of white dust immediately behind the locomotive as it reached the highland crossing, but that he did not know the nature of it.

The locomotive remained upright, but the rear wheels were derailed. The first car left the rails and overturned, and the following three cars piled up over it. The following six cars were derailed but did not overturn.

Three mail clerks who had been working in the lead car left it and went to a car further back when the train stopped at Crestline, shortly before the wreck.

TRAINS IN COLLISION

By The Associated Press

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 8—The Hummingbird, Louisville & Nashville streamliner, ran headon into another luxury train in a dense fog 20 miles north of here early today. Several persons were injured but only three required hospitalization. The others were given first aid treatment at the scene. The second train, the Miami to Chicago Florida Arrow, was standing still when the collision occurred. A trainman who declined to be quoted by name, said the Hummingbird missed a signal in the fog and failed to take a siding.

Camera with Speed of 100 Million Pictures Per Second Is Shown for First Time by Navy

By RENNIE TAYLOR

Associated Press Science Reporter

INYOKERN, Calif., May 8—A camera which can take pictures at the rate of 100 million per second was shown publicly for the first time today by the Navy.

This camera will enable scientists to get accurate pictures of things that happen far too fast for the eye or for any photographic instrument heretofore devised.

It is so fast that it can almost "stop" a beam of light. Its shutter is so speedy that a light ray, traveling at 186,000 miles a second, can move only 10 feet during one exposure.

Some day, its inventor said, it may be able to photograph the head of a beam of light coming out of an electric bulb.

The camera was displayed at the dedication of the $8,000,000 Michelson laboratory of the Naval Ordnance testing station. This laboratory will pioneer the Navy's guided missiles and other weapons of the future.

Light-Polarizing Lenses

Inventor of the camera is Dr. A. M. Zarem of the laboratory research staff. The instrument consists mainly of two light-polarizing lenses similar to anti-glare glasses and a high voltage electrical circuit.

The lenses, although crystal clear, can be set in such a way that light will not pass through them. But when two electric terminals in a glass tube are placed between the lenses and a high voltage charge is sent through the circuit, light can pass through as long as the electrical charge remains there.

By controlling the duration of the electric charge, an operator thus can govern the exposure time. Because it can be controlled electrically instead of mechanically, the interval can be cut down to a 100 millionth of a second.

Since the film could not be moved through a camera fast enough to keep up with this speed, many cameras have to be used—one for each exposure. To photograph the whole period of a millionth of a second requires 100 such cameras, each focused on a particular part of a long film strip and set off in a sort of chain reaction. Each camera costs about $1,500, Dr. Zarem said.

Opens Precision Field

This opens a new field of scientific investigation called precision micro-timing. Scientists for the first time will be able to see accurately the life history of an electric spark lasting only a millionth of a second. They will photograph what happens to a piece of metal or a bit of explosive coming apart in a split-second blast.

The ordnance testing station occupies a space roughly the size of the state of Rhode Island on the southern California desert. Here among a population of 12,000 technicians, service men and laborers, 130 scientists dream up, build and test many of this country's most destructive missiles. Much of their work is top secret.

JOHN R. STEELMAN (above), the President's labor aide, is playing a major role in conferences at Washington aimed at heading off the threatened nationwide railroad strike.

WOMAN'S BOARD BUY HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

$1,000 Worth of Surgical Instruments on Order.

Surgical instruments purchased at an expenditure of $1,000, have been added to the equipment at the Marion City hospital by the woman's board of the hospital, it was announced today by James Mautz, administrator.

The set, which will include something like 100 instruments, will be a valuable addition to the hospital equipment in that it will be available for use by all surgeons at any time, Mr. Mautz explains. It will be invaluable in emergencies in the case of accidents or obstetrical cases, in that it will be kept sterilized at all times and ready for instant use. This will avoid any delay in emergencies, he explains. Surgeons maintain their own surgical equipment at the hospital, and when needed, there is the consequent delay for time for sterilization.

The purchase is on order and is expected to arrive within the near future.

The hospital board has provided many valuable instruments and pieces of equipment to the hospital in addition to sewing for the institution throughout the year. Funds are realized through the annual hospital dance at holiday time and sale of tickets during the Little Grand Circuit races each year.

Another activity of the board will be cooperating with the hospital in the observance of National Hospital Day, Wednesday, May 12. Discontinued through the war years because of the very pressing duties, the hospital this year plans to maintain open house for the public between 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Tours of the institution with the exception of the maternity ward, will be made and the hospital board will cooperate by serving refreshments.

EX-BURMA PREMIER, 5 OTHERS, HANGED

By The Associated Press

RANGOON, Burma, May 8 — U Saw, pre-war Burmese premier, and five of his henchmen were hanged at dawn today for the machine gun murders last July 19 of seven cabinet ministers.

U Saw, convicted ringleader in the assassinations and attempted coup, was ranged at 5:15 a. m. By 6:30 the gallows trap had been sprung beneath the others.

The dapper, westernized U Saw was granted a final request—to be hanged alone. He had complained the orginal plan to hang the six in pairs was not dignified. Officials permitted this final, face-saving gesture.

The chief victim of the July killings was U Aung San, Burma's strong man.

The three condemned as the actual trigger men died on the Insein jail gallows after the 47-year-old U Saw. They were Thet Hnin, Hmon Gyi and Maung Soe. Two others, Haung Sein and Yangyi Aung, convicted as conspirators, were hanged at Rangoon jail.

WHITE HOUSE REPORTS NEW TALKS CALLED

Steelman Schedules Parleys with Union Leaders, Operators This Afternoon.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 8—The White House said today that railroad operators and union leaders will be brought together for a joint afternoon meeting in an effort to reach a settlement and avert a railroad strike scheduled for Tuesday.

A White House spokesman said Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman has failed thus far to find a basis for settlement of the dispute between the rail management and the unions.

Steelman talked over points in the 11 month old dispute with four railroad spokesmen during the morning.

He then invited leaders of the three railroad brotherhoods to his office this afternoon, and summoned the operators' spokesmen to return 15 minutes later.

Strike Set for Tuesday

The strike of engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen is set for Tuesday morning. If it takes place as scheduled, the nation's trains will stop running.

Steelman was still talking with the railroad officials when the announcement of the joint meeting was made.

The union leaders summoned to the afternoon talks are Alvanley Johnston of the Engineers, D. B. Robertson of the Firemen and Enginemen, and A. J. Glover Jr. of the Switchmen.

This trio met with Steelman yesterday.

The talks this morning, the White House said, covered "the whole situation and especially the recommendations of the presidential fact-findings board" which investigated the dispute.

The discussion disclosed no loop hole for agreement, the White House said.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters:

"The President remains always hopeful that a settlement can be reached."

Postponement Report Denied

He denied reports that President Truman now plans to ask a 20-day strike postponement, and said he could not comment on whether Steelman has any specific settlement proposal to make.

Four spokesmen for the rail carriers had a mid-day engagement with Steelman, Mr. Truman's labor trouble shooter. They are Daniel P. Loomis, H. A. Enochs and C. D. Mackay, chairman of western, eastern and southeastern carrier's conference committees respectively; and W. T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads.

Details Not Given Out

Ross said he could not discuss this conference in detail.

"We are trying to serve the public interest and avert this strike," he said. "We can't conduct parleys like this in a gold fish bowl."

The White House spokesman said he does not know whether Steelman might keep the negotiations going through tomorrow.

Informants had reported that the 20-day delay might be asked if no agreement is reached by the May 11 deadline between the railroads and three labor unions in their six-months old dispute.

Government seizure of the railroads was expected only if everything else failed.

As settlement efforts continued, six railroads imposed embargo orders on foods, poultry and livestock. At least 54 other lines planned the same step to avoid spoilage of strike-stranded cargo.

Steelman called management negotiators into private conference and it was indicated he also will meet again with heads of the three rail brotherhoods before the Tuesday strike deadline.

RITES SET SUNDAY FOR SLAIN COUPLE

By The United Press

BRYAN, O., May 8 — Double funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. John Gabriel, who were slain by a 14-year-old junior high school boy so he could use their car to take his girl friend to a dance.

The youth, Ervin Arthur Ingle, was held in county jail here on a detention warrant charging delinquency signed by Probate and Juvenile Judge John H. Pfeiffer. The youth is expected to be arraigned on murder charges Monday or Tuesday.

After fatally shooting Mr. Gabriel, New York Central railroad mail clerk, in his home, Ingle forced Mrs. Gabriel to drive him two miles west of Bryan. There he shot her in the head and left the body in a ditch.

The body was found Thursday afternoon by mushroom pickers. When identification was made, police went to the Gabriel home and found Gabriel, who had been shot 20 hours earlier, still alive. He died Thursday night.

Ingle, described as a "good student," was to have been "king" at the annual dance of Bryan Junior High school. The dance was held last night as scheduled, but ceremonies for the "king and queen" were omitted.

BOY FLIES TO CLINIC FOR SPEECH RIGHTING

By The Associated Press

WICHITA, Kan., May 8—Little Davey Hook of Zanesville, O., was on his way toward correction of his speech defect.

The eight-year-old boy flew here Wednesday as a ward of the Zanesville Eagles lodge. It was his first plane ride.

It was his first spell away from home, too, and Dr. Martin F. Palmer, head of the Institute of Logopedics, said Davey was a bit homesick. He cried a little for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hook, Palmer said.

Otherwise, said Palmer, Davey did all right. Tests showed his eyes, his hearing and his physical coordination are normal.

Davey came to the institute for correction of what was diagnosed as a "severe articulation defect." Some sounds are missing in his speech and he substitutes other sounds. As a result, his sentences are not understandable.

Dr. Daniel G. Caudy, Zanesville health commissioner, and Grant Mills of the Zanesville Eagles lodge, accompanied Davey.

Davey is staying here with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCollum. They also are hosts to another child taking speech training at the institute. Wichita Eagles met Davey at the airport and gave him $25 spending money.

A non-profit, charitable corporation, the institute operates under state law with a clinic, teacher training and research program.

Other Councilmen Agree

Other members of council present individually expressed their approval, Harold Smith, First ward; James C. Jenkins, Second ward; Herman Rinehart, Third ward, Donald R. Biggert, Fourth ward, and Herman Miller, Fifth ward.

Sixth ward member of council Clarence Sanden, would not comment, holding his opinion until a resolution in favor of an agreement with the county commissioners on a new hospital was presented for action by city council. Councilmen suggested a resolution be drawn up for action at the next meeting of council to place council on record as in favor of a city-county agreement.

D. A. Howard, president of the Huber Manufacturing Co., and member of the planning association board of directors, went on record as favoring a county-wide undertaking. "The city and county too long operated under the fallacy that they are separate units," he said. "It is time they should work together as one unit which they are. I think the proposition is grand and will pass, not by the necessary 65 per cent of the voters but by a much larger majority."

E. O. Uncapher, safety service director, suggested that the Planning association might extend its promotional organization supporting a hospital project to include representatives of organization in the county as well as in the city, pointing out that as a county-wide project, full information concerning a drive for a hospital should be made available with county representatives taking part.

The joint meeting was held following a directors' meeting of the planning association when a nominating committee was appointed to present a slate of association officers for election May 14. Named on the committee were A. W. Kette, chairman, Harley Lewis, Robert Bush, Mrs. C. R. Pennisten and Mrs. Roy Newell.

At the conclusion of the conference, planning commission directors met again to consider the proposal on which city council and commissioners were found to be in agreement. Directors voted to recommend support of a countywide hospital project.

No Celebrations Mark 3rd VE Anniversary

By The Associated Press

The European phase of World War II ended officially just three years ago.

Today's anniversary apparently drew more notice in the defeated nations than among the victorious ones.

No public celebrations were reported in the United States. No statements were forthcoming on the eve of the anniversary.

But in Germany and Austria, pleas were heard for a joint effort to make the peace last.

German mayors appealed to their people last night to love their neighbors.

HERBERT REQUESTED TO REFORM BOARDS

Marion Co. Not Listed Among Rent Changes.

Reorganization of 27 of the state's 34 local advisory rent boards has been requested of Governor Thomas J. Herbert by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods, according to a United Press dispatch from Washington.

The housing expediter told the governor that membership on only seven of the local boards is properly balanced in relation to tenants, landlords and the public.

The Marion area board is not among the 27 slated for reorganization, but boards in six neighboring counties are among those Woods directed to be changed.

Spokesmen for the federal agency said a general 1-1-3 ratio is aimed at, with one landlord and one tenant to each three public representatives. The Marion board approximates this ratio. Members are C. J. Roberts, Ed Parr, Carl Schell, Harold Nussbaum, E. E. Crizer, and Thomas C. Fetter.

Removal of a specific board member was asked in but a few cases. In Delaware county, Wade Schaefer of Delaware, was asked to be removed from the board and one tenant representative added.

Other counties where changes were specified were: Hancock—one public interest tenant added; Seneca—one tenant representative added; Ashland—one public interest representative added; Richland—three public interest representatives added; Knox—one tenant and three public interest representative added.

The seven-inch youngster was born to Daisie, a female tiger. The father is Huey, a lion born here in 1941.

Sloan said the tiglon has a large head like a lion cub, and its body is striped like a tiger.

TRUMAN ON BIRTHDAY SCANS STRIKE THREAT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 8 — President Truman observed his sixty-fourth birthday today with attention on the threatened rail strike—and its possible effect on his cross-country travel plans.

His transcontinental talking tour calls for the use of the special presidential train—the last word in railroad equipment.

Unless the White House succeeds in its efforts to avert the rail walkout Tuesday, Mr. Truman, like millions of other citizens, may have to alter his travel plans. In that case he could use the presidential plane—but that would eliminate his schedule of rear platform appearances on the June trip to the west coast.

The President will take time out today to attend a birthday party arranged by his staff. They invited him to a special luncheon—prepared in the White House basement kitchen.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross and White house physician Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham pronounced the Chief Executive in top shape for the trip. Mr. Truman plans major speeches in Chicago, Omaha, Seattle, Berkeley, San Francisco and Los Angeles as well as a dozen or so platform appearances along the way.

Gen. Graham said Mr. Truman now weighs 174 pounds—seven pounds above his weight when he took office upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt on April 12, 1945. At once time he went up to 189 pounds and his physician now is relaxing the strenuous diet which brought him down to 174 recently—to keep him from getting "stale."

Just the same, the President is walking two miles daily in the vicinity of the White House whenever the weather permits, accompanied only by secret service personnel. The walks usually take place before breakfast.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Cough Should Be Diagnosed

Nowadays, when so many people smoke, there is a tendency to regard every cough as simply due to too many cigarets. This is a bad thought because it often means neglect of coughing which signals some really serious disorder.

There are many different types of coughing and these are so distinctive that years ago, when modern methods of diagnosis were not available, doctors relied heavily on the mere sound of the cough to tell them what was wrong. For example, a brassy cough indicates swelling of the aorta, the great artery coming from the heart. Its enlargement causes pressure on the windpipe and this, in turn, stimulates the coughing attacks.

A croupy cough is commonly associated with conditions which produce swellings of the larynx or voicebox.

Coughing, in attacks, may mean whooping cough or some other condition which produces an excessive amount of secretion in the windpipe and the tubes in the lungs known as the bronchi.

A dry cough, on the other hand, means, as a rule, that an excessive amount of secretion is not present. Tumor or cancer of the lungs frequently produces a cough of this type.

Since coughing is only a symptom, it cannot be treated properly until the cause is found. It is often one of the important signs in the common everyday infections of the respiratory tract. It is nearly always present in tuberculosis of the lung, lung abscess and pneumonia, and we all must remember that serious lung tumors also cause coughing.

It is true as I said earlier, that coughing is common among excessive smokers but it is never safe to assume that a persistent cough is due to this cause alone. Hence, when a patient who smokes complains of coughing, there is need for a thorough study to determine if the coughing is due to the smoking or to some other disturbance. Smoker's cough usually occurs in the morning, though it may be present throughout the day. It is often accompanied by gagging because of the thick secretions present in the throat.

Certain occupations require that the worker be exposed to dust and fumes, which may also have a noticeable effect on the lining membranes of the breathing organs to cause coughing attacks.

Sometimes coughing may be produced by conditions outside of the breathing organs. Irritation of the outer ear canal may bring about coughing attacks, and coughing may be a symptom of hard-packed wax in the ear. Of course, inflammation of the nose and throat, as well as infection of the nasal sinuses, are all associated with coughing.

A cough should never be neglected. As a rule, its cause may be easily found but, in any event, successful treatment depends on finding the cause and removing it.

Questions and Answers

M. H.: I have pains in my head. I am quite deaf and have head noises. I am nearly seventy. What would you suggest?

Answer: You are in need of a careful examination to determine the cause of the head pains. The trouble may be due to hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, or some similar condition.

Go Ahead on Project Despite Divided Vote

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 8—The next move in the long-hoped-for fire protection project in Sulphur Springs and Liberty township rested with township trustees today.

Instigated in both Liberty and Sandusky townships, organized as the Sandusky-Liberty Fire Protection association, the association's duties will now be only advisory as trustees take up the matter of purchase of fire fighting equipment, Roy Welsh, president, said today.

Because Sandusky township voters failed to suport the levy at the Tuesday primaries in that voting district, the project will now be developed by Liberty township alone, trustees said.

Decision to place the issue before voters was reached when efforts of the association to raise $12,000 by private subscriptions failed after only half that sum had been pledged.

WATER RATE INCREASE MAY BE MADE IN KENTON

Special to The Star

KENTON, May 8—Possibility that the city council here may be called upon to authorize an increase in water rates to Kenton users has been indicated by Mayor Loucks B. Brown, who may make such a recommendation to council May 17.

Growing deficit in the operation of the waterworks has been caused by increased expense of both labor and materials, Service Director Charles Mahaney has pointed out to council.

Mayor Brown recently expressed his concern in an address before members of the Kenton Chamber of Commerce, and again in speaking before the city planning committee.

PENSION FUNDS GET MONEY FROM STATE

Received as Part of General Distribution.

Marion police and firemen's pension funds were each $4,469.53 richer today as a result of having received that amount as the first state payments to the funds authorized under a new state law.

Harry D. Cahill, city treasurer, reported receipt of checks from the state treasurer this morning for the pension funds.

This money comes to the local funds once each year as provided by house bill 195 passed by the state legislature Sept. 24, 1947. The money is paid to the pension funds from a $1,600,000 fund appropriated by the legislature for the adjustment of pensions and is only paid to pension funds of cities where a three-tenths of a mill levy for pensions is already in effect. Marion is one of these cities. The amount of payments is based by the state on the amount of one-tenth of a mill on the tax value of property in a city. Local pension officials report that this money comes to the local fund as a direct appropriation by the state under the state police and firemen's pension act.

The amount received by local pension funds was part of $1,203,131 in fund payments distributed to cities throughout the state, according to an Associated Press report today.

JUDGE SMITH TALKS ON JURY SERVICE

Addresses Exchange Club on System of Trials.

Judge Paul D. Smith spoke before 30 members of the Exchange club at the noon meeting at Hotel Harding Thursday

He talked on the importance of jury duty to the welfare of this country's court system, outlining the difficulties encountered in securing the proper people for jury service He warned of the impending danger of losing our right of trial by jury as has happened in Germany, Russia and many other countries. "Too many people find too many excuses for avoiding the duty," he said.

In other phases of his speech, Judge Smith explained the pre-trial settlement method as a means of preparing for a case and in some instances reaching a solution without a trial He stressed the use of sound equipment in recording cases and pointed out that this is the only county in Ohio which maintains a complete recorded record

Guest at the luncheon was Robert Ruhl of Marion. It was announced that Mayor H. L Dowler would speak at the next meeting.

"Movement of People"

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S greatest contribution to the thinking of his time has been the ability to see what was possible and to stimulate men to achieve it. This has been accompanied by a corresponding ability to see what was impossible and to warn men against it.

His choice of the phrase "a movement of people" to describe what is behind a council of Europe shows the depth of his thought. In the past, attempts to create European federation have been made by governments and religions. Sometimes the attempts were favorable to the hopes and aspirations of the people, sometimes they weren't. But favorable or unfavorable, they lacked a basis of popular consent. This is the danger that Mr. Churchill warns against in 1948, "We aim at the eventual participation of all the people throughout the continent whose society and way of life are not in disaccord with the charter of human rights and the sincere expression of free democracy," he has told the 22-nation forum at The Hague, speaking as its honorary chairman. "We welcome any country where the people own the government, and not the government the people."

The Rockefeller Foundation said in its recent annual report that it had found everywhere in Europe a sincere desire among people to lift the burden of nationalistic wars from their shoulders. They are tired of governments and ideologies that betray their interests. The foundation of peace exists in the minds of people; its existence is denied in the minds of few men whose ambition runs contrary to the people's interests.

No Time To Waste

ONE more thing about the primary this year will bear comment before the subject is closed and stored among the politicians' souvenirs.

Throughout the state there was a good turnout. Party members were interested in the contests between Senator Taft and Harold Stassen and Frank J. Lausche and Ray Miller. This was advantageous to other party members seeking nominations. There was a heavy vote.

Worrying about the decline of interest in primaries has become habitual. Newspapers implore voters to go to the polls to exercise their franchise, yet realize that exercising the franchise to decide a useless contest between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee doesn't make sense.

Voters have no time to waste on contests that don't interest them. The trouble is not with them but with the kind of politics that gets so cut-and-dried it loses the sense of participation which is the means of keeping popular government alive. Whenever the direct primary needs a stimulant, to bring out the vote, the job can be done by the simplest of all political expedients—a contest in which a free and informed citizenry can take sides and help decide a public issue.

Britain's Plight

ONE of the reasons for Britain's plight today is that she knew how to build industries but did little about keeping them up to date. Long before World War II it was evident that cartels, sterling blocs and empire preferences couldn't alter the fact that British industry wasn't plowing back enough profits.

In a pamphlet titled "Technological Stagnation in Great Britain," Prof. George Terborgh, research director of the Machinery & Allied Products Institute, says: "We have seen some of Britain's chief industries operating with mechanical antiques and outmoded production methods. We have seen both management and labor obsessed with a passion for security and 'stability,' reflected, on the one side, in combinations in restraint of competition, and on the other in featherbedding and resistance to mechanization. We have seen a tax system inimical to enterprise and adventure...We have seen, finally, the logical sequel, or at least its beginnings, the intervention of the state."

Complacency never has been an affliction of American industry. Competition has been stiff, and to keep in the race most American industries have put billions of profits and venture capital in new plants and equipment.

This need for constant renovation and expansion is so little understood that the net profits of industry are fair game for any politician or labor leader who points to them and calls for a melon splitting. President Truman recently proposed an income tax reduction without loss of revenue by levying a higher "surplus profits" tax.

The belief that all surpluses are made for redistribution in the form of lower prices, higher wages and heavier taxes is a dangerous fallacy. A substantial portion of the industrial plant's profits have to be turned back to renew itself. Otherwise it will clank along at progressively slower rate with a progressively smaller yield.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The Mundt Bill—Unpleasant but Necessary.

USUALLY, when a congressional committee or anybody else wants to determine whether a person is a Communist, he asks: "Do you believe in or plan to overthrow the government of the United States?", or words to that effect.

That is a foolish question. No Communist wishes or plans to overthrow the government of the United States. He desires to extend the power and authority of the government of the United States or any other government. He desires to expand its personnel; to develop its functions until the burden of taxes is so great that it produces revolution and confusion and then the Communists take over. Once they do take over, they establish first a coalition of left-wing parties; then a dictatorship of the Communist party; and finally the dictatorship of a politburo—of a small oligarchy which produces a proletarian dictatorship.

SOKOLSKY

The correctness of the Mundt bill is that it meets just that situation. It defines the character of the Soviet Russian, the Polish, the Romanian, the Yugoslavian and other Communist governments as a "totalitarian dictatorship." That is precisely what it is. It is not a democracy, it is not a social democracy; it is not a representative republic. It is a totalitarian dictatorship, an oligarchy of a self-appointed elite which enslaves a people without mercy.

Offensive but Necessary

The Mundt bill places restrictions upon Americans which are ugly and should be unnecessary. But they are not unnecessary, as much as we may find them offensive. The fact is that since 1917 the world has faced this horrible conspiracy; since 1933 this country has lived in a nightmare of corruption of every tradition of our people, of our literature, of our schools, of the components of our people, of our society. The communists have invaded our government; they spoke for us, but against our interests, through the OWI; they managed to infiltrate our Army and Navy during the war and wrote a literature of falsehood which was distributed to our sons. They have poisoned our industrial relations with the object of reducing the productivity of our nation and to increasing the cost of government until the burden of debt and taxation become unbearable.

Obviously existing law is inadequate to meet the danger of this fifth column. The fact is that many Communists still remain in public office and a federal grand jury has been sitting in New York nearly a year without result; men and women who entered in 1934 into a conspiracy to invade our government with the object of spying upon it and reaching high places to do it, are as free as the wind to continue their work of havoc.

Plainly Stated

The Mundt bill says:

"....One result of this method of operation is that such political organizations are able to obtain financial and other support from persons who would not extend such support if they knew the true purposes of, and the actual nature of the control and influence exerted upon, such 'Communist fronts.'"

Even more amazing is the fact that while Communism is legally respectable, many well-intentioned persons continue to believe that this fifth column should be granted all the rights and privileges of a traditional American political party. They are incapable of understanding that all Communists are agents, by consent, of a foreign government, who serve that government faithfully as a matter of creed. The "Communist front" often consists of innocent persons who, favoring some cause, become affiliated with the Communists and thereupon are involved, sometimes unwillingly and often unknowingly. In the conspiracies of this vast international movement for the enslavement of the human race to a totalitarian dictatorship. The period of probe and investigation is over; the time has come for strident action in defense of our institutions.

Examine the Opposition

The Mundt bill is being and will continue to be attacked. Check the record of those who attack it. You will find that many of them have fought every effort, in this country, to safeguard the United States against the Soviet world revolution. If those who attack the Mundt bill have such a record, it is not necessary to believe a word they say. They have lied too long and too often. They have demonstrated their enmity to America.

Easy Money Jitters

By Frank Tripp

WHEN you hand your youngster a five spot and he gives you the icy stare, do you ever try to figure how today's kids got that way?

For an evening more strenuous than a stroll in the park five dollars is about as useless to our offspring as a quarter used to be. This is particularly true if the youngster doesn't have to earn it; if the old man is financing his advent into the modern juvenile swim.

TRIPP

It's easy to figure that the poor kid is not to blame; that everything he does costs four to ten times what it cost his dad to court his mother.

That part of it is plain arithmetic and Amos and Andy economics. "One billion, two billion, three billion, 253 billion" roll glibly off the tongues of people who have no conception of what a billion is.

But that's not what really makes modest sums so insulting to the lads and lassies of today. At least so thinks one victim of their greed. He says it's the ease with which they hear big sums of money can be had.

* * *

A father who has trouble to make ends meet wept on my shoulder the other day. He is a drudge for his family. What with high prices he never has anything for himself. He even quit his little fun of weekly bowling so he could give more to his boy who's beginning to step out.

He could take his sacrifice with a smile if the lad appreciated it. Instead the boy broke the poor fellow's heart. The young ingrate wanted to know how come his father's poverty, why he hadn't gone out and got himself some dough.

That to a struggling father from an upstart who has yet to earn his first suit of clothes. But he can blow in five or ten of the old man's hard earnings of an evening every time he can get hold of it.

* * *

What do you think the father said to me?

"He's a good boy, I don't blame him and I want him to have a happy youth," he said. "But I wish to God that a radio program never could be heard in my house again."

We have heard prattle of the influence of the movies on the ambitions of people of modest means. That the luxury and lavishness that Hollywood portrays have brought discontent and covetousness which can lead to crooked thinking, to dishonesty and crime. How much of this is real we all have questioned.

Maybe what the father said can be equally discounted. His rebellion against radio damns all programs because of his hatred of a few. He blames them for his son's cheap estimate of money and of life.

* * *

"I try to get the boy to carry papers after school," the father said. "And he tells me: 'For a lousy six or seven bucks a week? Why a guy got twelve dollars on the air last night for knowing what three coins make a quarter. Working to get money is out of date. Nobody but a sucker does that any more'."

"Quite interesting," I said, "but surely such thinking can't cause you to blame radio."

"These birds who give away the moon have the country on the ropes," he insisted. "At my house the whole family listens, answers the questions, adds up their score and takes in anywhere from $50 to $500 a night—in their minds. Then they spend it their way—also in their minds. While I guard the pitiful $12.75 that's got to run the whole outfit till next pay day."

* * *

In that man's opinion it is bad to parade so much easy money before people who have a hard time to get along. He says it emphasizes their wants, the futility of democracy, the cheapness of money, the hopelessness of the masses and inflates the ideas of youth.

He talked about saving fats to get pennies and increase the supply of soap; then listening to soap makers giving away thousands, several thousands, to people for doing things to make folks laugh. While he slaves to keep a home together. Strange reasoning?

Here is a frustrated man, harassed almost out of balance. Deluded to blame his economic plight upon a product of progress which brings the world to his door. Deluded or not, he is possessed of thoughts which create national unrest and have brought revolution to other lands.

I write his story only to tell you what a discouraged homemaker, who may be typical of millions, is thinking.

Be It Ever So Mobile

The divorce rate among couples living in trailers is revealed as only half that of those who dwell in houses.

Maybe that's because the windows aren't big enough for love to fly out.

And then again, men are naturally more reluctant to allow the little woman to go home to mother if she can take the residence with her.

At any rate, figures seem to dispove the old proverb: True love does, too, run smooth . . . in a trailer.

In fact, in time it may become generally recognized that it's the wheels that make love go 'round, instead of vice versa.

Of course, there is probably a very simple explanation for the success of most trailer marriages . . . .

No room for in-laws.

World's Duty

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 8, 1938.

Five persons met death in Marion and nearby counties in highway traffic and train accidents and 12 persons died in traffic or drowning accidents in the state over the weekend.

A delegation of more than 50 members of Marion Post No. 3313, Veterans of Foreign Wars, headed by W. J. Weir, commander, the auxiliary and the newly-organized Sons of Veterans Junior Corps attended a convention of District Nos. 2 and 3, at Delaware.

Rainfall measuring .85 of an inch fell in a severe electrical storm and brought a sharp drop in temperature from a high of 80 degrees to a low of 40.

Mrs. Bert Curtis of South Prospect street returned from a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernsberger in Dayton.

A class of approximately 30 candidates was initiated by Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus, in honor of Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church.

Mrs. Chester C. Roberts of East Church street was in Greencastle, Ind., the guest of her son, Frank H. Roberts, a student at DePauw university.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, May 8, 1928.

Henry Ford predicted prosperity ahead for the United States when he arrived in New York City on the liner Majestic from a three weeks' visit in England.

Erection of a workhouse for Marion county prisoners was recommended in the report of the grand jury in common pleas court.

Mrs. Frank McKeever, Mrs. Emma Uhler Voorhees, Miss Sarah Cooper and Miss Lillian Plack were chosen delegates to the first annual meeting of the Ohio Council of Republican Women at Columbus, at a meeting of the Marion County Chapter.

Miss Louise Cunningham, retiring president of the Literature Study club, introduced the president of the club for the following year, Mrs. C. E. Henney, at a meeting of the members at the home of Mrs. Fillmore Young on St. James street.

Visitors at the Union depot included L. R. Tibke, traveling agent of the tour department of the Chicago & Northwestern lines, William Hethington, Cincinnati, traveling passenger agent of the Union Pacific and R. W. Robertson, Cleveland, traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific.

More than 40 gypsies were herded into police court in an effort to identify a "healer" who had rubbed away a promissory note for $1,250 and bank deposit slips for approximately $250 more while presumably attempting to relieve a Marion county man of a pain in his back. The victim was unable to identify the swindler.

Shift in Red Party Line

By Stewart Alsop

TRIESTE

SOMETHING has happened here in the last few days which may have a significance extending well beyond the constricted borders of the miscalled "Free Territory of Trieste." The event was a sudden shift of the Communist party line. It deserved the closest study, for the shifts of the party line are the best clues to the strategy of the Kremlin.

Until last week, the Trieste Communist press, subsidized in part by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, was talking very tough indeed. To the usual shrill abuse of "Anglo-American policy and military brutality" was added a barely concealed threat. The Communist papers shrieked that "the workers" would "never permit" the Anglo-American outrages. More specifically, there were repeated appeals for mass demonstrations in the Piazza Unita, in the center of the city. The Allied military government had ruled that for a period including May day, Communist demonstrations must be confined to another section of the city. Thus the authority of the military government was directly challenged.

ALSOP

But if the public Communist line was tough, the private line—the line taken behind closed doors—was even tougher. There is no doubt that plans were laid, and orders issued, for a showdown with the Anglo-American authority. It is known that one of the Trieste Communist party's satraps sent the word down the line that May 1 was to mark the beginning of a violent campaign to undermine that authority.

In the lower echelons, in the Communist cells, "agitprops" and activists explained the necessity for violence. The Italian elections, they argued, had finally shown that the party could never come to power except by force. The cases of Hungary and Czechoslovakia were used to underline this conclusion. In those countries, it was pointed out, the "workers" had seized power from the "reactionaries," and the Communist party was thereafter certain of a majority in any election. Thus, henceforth, the Trieste Communists must be ready to take up arms, and to "break reactionary heads."

Moreover, preparations for transforming tough talk into tough action were undertaken. In Trieste's Communist section (known, as in every city in Europe, as "Little Stalingrad") sleeping quarters were assigned for contingents of Slav thugs. These were to be infiltrated from the Yugoslav zone, to reinforce the native Trieste Communists in the "direct action" which had been planned. There is little wonder that only last week real trouble in Trieste seemed more than possible.

Yet on April 29, observers noted with interest, the Communist press suddenly began to sing small. The abuse of the "Anglo-American imperialists" automatically persisted. But the threats of open defiance of the authority of the Allied military government were suddenly absent.

Rather Tame May 1

On May 1 there was the usual demonstration, complete with speeches, banners, scantily clad anti-fascist females and even more scantily clad Communist athletes. But the demonstration was carefully confined to the area assigned to the Communists. Nothing more lethal than a bottle of red ink was thrown. As such things go, the show was a flop, dismal and spottily attended. Moreover, in the days which have since passed, days which were to mark the beginning of the all-out campaign against the Anglo-American government, a total if faintly nervous quiet has reigned in Trieste. Obviously, the Communist campaign of violence has either been abondoned or indefinitely postponed.

There are several purely local interpretations which can be placed upon this sudden docility, this unexpected mildness, of the Trieste Communists. For example, the higher headquarters of the Trieste Communist party is known to be located in Belgrade, Marshal Tito's capital. It may be that the tough talk here was a private venture of the Yugoslav chieftain.

Tito may have wished to feel out the Anglo-American occupation authorities in Trieste, hoping that they would show weakness, and give him a chance for another grab at Trieste. It is a theory generally held among experts that the Kremlin's major satraps like Tito are given a certain limited freedom of action, with the strict proviso that they do not involve themselves in serious trouble. The reversal of the Trieste Communist policy would then be explained on the basis that Tito was frightened off by the obvious firmness of the able American General Bryant Moore and British General Terence Airey.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

Daily Bible Thought

What you do in this world must be done now, the time is extremely short. Shorter than you think. Justify your existence on this plane of existence now, the chance will never be repeated: "I must work the works of him that sent me, while it is yet day, the night cometh when no man can work."—John 9:4.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap—No. 236

WE FOUND The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap feeling extra high. He buried in new business. Plant additions and a stock dividend were in prospect.

"I never say anything like it," he exclaimed. "My business has trebled. And do you know what did it? That 'I-will-give-nothing-away-because' announcement on my radio program. The public reaction to a product sold only on its merits and not tied up with a raffle, bingo game, quiz or mystery person has been terrific."

PHILLIPS

"You kept your recent promise not to offer a prize of any kind?" we asked.

"Positively!"

"You mean to say you didn't even have a quiz?"

"None. The first week we went on the air without asking anybody a fool question, our business leaped 30 per cent. We got over 500,000 congratulatory letters. I got a new slogan out of it: 'We Will Take You as a Customer, Dumb, Smart or Medium'."

* * *

The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap rubbed his hands gleefully.

"I've got a new theme for the business," he continued. "It is on all letterheads and reads 'Your Ignorance Is Our Own Business; Turn to Our Merchandise Is Our Business'."

* * *

"Surely you are in one way or another using salesmanship up with box tops," we insisted.

"Not at all. I am so determined to give the public a respite from box top savings that the boxes in which we ship our product HAVE NO TOPS!"

* * *

"You say the public response has been terrific?"

"Up to now I sold mousetraps only to people who wanted mousetraps. I am now selling them to people who have no mice. They just buy to show their appreciation of a merchant whose sales approach is not based on a belief that a customer's chief ambition in life is to identify a voice, complete a slogan or come back next week for the jackpot."

* * *

He hesitated a moment and went on.

"Let me just read you a couple of letters that have come in. ...One says 'For the past five years I have been striving to buy something without being involved in a contest. When I want a pill or a cereal I want a pill or a cereal, not a sedan and a raccoon coat'....Another customer writes 'I can't tell you what it means to me to tune in on my radio and not hear anybody shrieking "Right! That gets you $500. Do you want to try for $1,000 more and two years on Malibu Beach at our expense?" I am sending you check for a thousand mousetraps, and don't bother to send the traps. Mine is an act of pure gratitude'."

"Wonderful," we agreed.

"We open our radio program now with this simple statement, 'Ladies and gentlemen, if you want something for nothing, tune out. This is a program on which you give US something—your intelligent respect!'"

There was a sound of trees being toppled and shrubbery being snapped.

"More path beaters to my door," explained The Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap. "They've broken through six new paths since my last broadcast."

A Day for Mother

By TRUMAN TWILL

It is only fair and reasonable to set aside one day in honor of mother so after it's over everybody can pester the poor woman half to death for the next 364 days with a clear conscience.

This will put mother on notice that nothing is going to happen in connection with Mother's Day this year or any other year to change her time-honored status in the family. She will continue to be a combination maid of all work, memory expert, cook and bottle washer, social secretary, camp counselor, interior decorator, part-time gardener, budget expert, purchasing agent, walking encyclopedia, garment worker, laundress, cleaning woman, practical nurse, special companion, mediator, cheerleader and guardian of the family morals.

It will still be her job to inspect ears, necks, shirt collars and the old man for signs of criminal neglect, to be on the spot with bandages, antiseptic, square meals, a winning smile, an elephant's memory, the patience of a saint, mops, sponges, the winning formula for difficult problems in arithmetic, ideas for rearranging the furniture to conceal the worn places in the rug and a word of praise to jack up the laggard morale of all who are downtrodden and heavy-hearted.

She will still be expected to get the point to all obscure jokes, including those at her own expense, remember where forgetful members of the household left the magazines they are unable to find when they want them, run a taxicab service in foul and fair weather, insist on the wearing of overshoes when the weather is wet and advise against the wearing of clothing that is too heavy when the weather turns warm.

She will still be under obligation to maintain the fire on the hearth, keep the candle burning in the window for prodigal sons and errant daughters, design clothing and costumes, fight the good fight against prices when they are rising and against declining family incomes when prices are falling. It will still be her sworn duty to come on the double-quick in case of accidents to others and to put up with the bungling administration of relief in the event of accidents to herself, which will be resented and held against her.

She will be duty-bound, to take up the slack whenever and wherever it occurs to get in there and pitch when the time comes, to be her own sweet, lovable self in spite of a strong, urgent impulse to go berserk, to keep smiling in the face of dire adversity and to pretend on the rare occasions when she is appreciated that she has done nothing to deserve it, and when one of the members cracks up and turns sour it will still be part of her job to chime in on the chorus which chants on the slightest excuse that society has a right to expect that every mother will be a paragon of patience, virtue, good judgment, good humor and household skill and to take responsibility for the exceptions on her shoulders, along with everything else that comes her way.

This will express the hope that all mothers may make the most of Mother's Day this year because another tough year's ahead. Anybody—meaning mother—know where Junior put his tennis shoes, where Susie left the sash of her blue dress, where the pliers are, how long it is going to be until supper and what's going to be for dessert if any and if not why not?

* * *

WHEN Miss Anna Jarvis, back in 1908 in Philadelphia, hit upon the idea of setting apart one day in honor of her mother who had meant so much to her and set about getting a day officially designated as "Mother's Day" when all mothers might rightfully receive the honor and respect due them, her proposal met with ready response for everyone has a mother and only the most inhuman ingrates would decline to share in bestowing such praise.

It has been said that the tenderest word in our language is love; the sweetest is home; but the dearest word we know is mother. In every generation man has responded to that divinely given instinct for home-making and whether he has built a shelter for his loved ones in a cave, a cabin or a cottage, whether he has built it of logs or bricks or chiseled stone—it has been perhaps the best thing he has ever done. Fortunately, home does not depend upon the size of the house nor the expensiveness of the furnishings, nor the exclusiveness of social functions, nor the fame of worldly success. Only a few can have all these things, but the humblest person can make a home.

The central figure in every true home is mother. The surroundings may change; the furnishings may wear out and have to be replaced; the house may undergo repairs; the location itself may change—but mother forever occupies her unique position; she ever reigns supreme upon the throne as queen of the home. The poet, Edgar Guest, has truly said: "It takes a heap o' living in a house to make it home." It takes more than that. It requires a mother's love and watchful care to make a home into that divinely appointed "bit of heaven on earth" which the Eternal God so wisely intended that it should become. Is there anything in the music of the masters to compare with the cooing of a babe in the cradle, the childish chatter of tiny tots as they toddle about their mother's knee, or the lilting laughter of little children at play? Is there anything in art or sculpture to match the happy hearthstone group, the friendly fellowship of a fireside scene which is vibrant with life and pulsating with parental love? Does not the light of love which shines from a mother's eyes upon the babe in her arms outrival Raphael's "Sistine Madonna" for tenderness and beauty? Is there any enactment of Congress or of the Parliaments of the world as far reaching in influence as the Law of Love which is engraved upon the hearts of children where the lessons of integrity and honor are taught by Godly parents through precept and example? Is there any soil so fertile and so friendly for the sowing of the seeds of sobriety and virtue as that hallowed spot we call Home?

"The greatest battle that ever was fought—
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world will you find it not!
It was fought by the mothers of men."

Mothers have ever been the greatest inspiration in their children though all too often have received the least credit for their labors of love. Dr. George Lorimer tells the story of one of our distinguished men who was introduced at a great public meeting as a "self-made man" and the speaker seemed humbled at such an introduction rather than puffed up with pride. Later he explained to a friend his reaction. He said: "It set me to thinking that I was not really a self-made man." "But did you not begin to work in a store at the age of 10 or 12?" he was asked. "Yes," he replied, "but it was because my mother thought I ought to have the educating touch of business early in life." He was a prolific reader but it was because his mother encouraged him and required him to review the book for her after he had read it. This great man was noted for his integrity and loyalty to truth and righteousness. Surely that was his own, his friend insisted. "Well, I don't know about that," he reflected, and then told of putting specked apples at the bottom and the good ones at the top after the manner of some storekeepers when his mother checked him, saying: "Tom, if you do that you are a cheat"—and I didn't do it. I don't consider myself a self-made man. I think my mother had a lot to do with shaping my character and usefulness." The experience of this man may be duplicated many times and retold as a tribute to the sacred memory of Christian mothers who have molded the lives of their children during those formative years when character is in the making. Worthy children of worthy mothers do not need that a special day should be set apart for them to "rise up and call her blessed", for every day is "Mother's Day" in their desire to honor her.

MOTHERS ARE GUESTS OF WALDO GIRLS 4-H CLUB

A meeting of the Waldo Girls 4-H club, with each girl bringing her mother as guest, was held April 29 at Norton school.

The meeting was opened by singing "Oh Suzanna," "America for Me," and the president, Margaret Howald, led in repeating the Lord's Prayer and the Salute to The Flag.

Projects were chosen and a trip to Columbus was planned for June 4. A spelling bee was held between the mothers and daughters.

The current record-breaking U.S. orange crop was nearly twice as large as the prewar average.

Springtime Furnace Repairs Get Results

In spite of the number of modern types of heating plants, the greater portion of the homes in this country are still heated by small coal or oil-burning furnaces. These furnaces operate on the simple principle of burning the fuel in a fire pot which is connected directly to the chimney, and have a steel shell around the fire pot so that the air between the two becomes hot, and is led through one or more ducts into the various rooms of the house.

These hot-air furnaces usually require tightening up after a year or two of service. The time to make the repairs is in the spring immediately after furnace is allowed to go out of service. If you wait until the fall you are apt to start the fire up on a cold day and the furnace will be kept in service without the necessary repairs.

The shell around the fire pot can be removed by loosening a series of bolts which hold it together. After these bolts are loosened the shell will lift off in sections. The joints where the cast-iron fire pot is joined together will be plainly evident and they should be scraped off and recovered with furnace cement. This operation will prevent the odor of burning coal or oil escaping into the space between the fire pot and the shell, and thus being carried into the house through the ducts.

Many homeowners complain of the odor of coal-gas or of burning oil, and continue to make draft adjustments and changes in fuel in an effort to overcome it, when the real cause of the trouble is a loose joint in the fire pot.

The necessary furnace cement will cost about 50 cents and the time required for the job should be about an hour and a half.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DINNER HELD BY GUILD

A mother-daughter dinner was held by the Women's Guild of First Evangelical and Reformed church at the church social rooms Wednesday night, with approximately 100 seated at table decorated with miniature house and garden scenes. The event was in keeping with national family week. Opening feature was the singing of hymns, and following business a program was presented. A tribute to mothers was given by Mrs. Helen Amrine and response was by Mrs. Emma Felchlin.

Devotions included a poem by Miss Florence Hartman. Scripture Miss Elizabeth Huberman, and prayer Miss Mary Queen. The junior choir sang two numbers. Guest speaker was Mrs. H. V. Falor who talked on "The Challenge of the Night." She declared, 'We begin at home to change our world' and her challenge was "Women, hold fast to faith in God." Members of the Girls' Guild held a service of singing and readings in dedication of homes and the meeting closed with singing of "Blest Be the Tie," and prayer by Mrs. Falor.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Tuck-Pointing Chimney

Q. Would you be able to tell me how to repair our chimney. Up in the attic where it is quite damp, the mortar is powdering up between the bricks of the chimney, thereby loosening the bricks here and there. I would like to do the job myself, if possible.

A. Rake out the old mortar to a depth of half an inch or so, clean out loose bits and wet the grooves with water. Then pack the joints with a mixture of 1 part portland cement, 1 part hydrated lime and 5 parts of clean, coarse sand with just enough water to make a workable mixture. You also could buy a ready mix as sold by dealers in mason supplies. I advise you to see why your attic is so damp and do something about it. The condition is not good and besides disintegrating your mortar the dampness may also rot the woodwork of your attic. You could protect your brickwork with a coat of cement base paint, containing a dampproofer, also sold by dealers in mason supplies.

Hanging Pictures

Q. We have moved into a newly built home, with painted plaster walls. How can we hang pictures on the wall? As a rule, hammering nails or brads into the plaster is bound to break or crack the plaster. Usually the upper molding is used to assist in picture hanging. Will be glad to hear from you.

A. Hardware stores sell special picture-hanging hooks with slender, sharply-pointed nails. Another method is to work a hole in the plaster with an old awl, screwdriver, three-eighths to a half-inch diameter. Pack the hole full of wood putty and let it harden. Wood screw then will hold in place. One of our readers solved the problem in this way. "Put a small piece of Scotch tape over the place where the nail is to be driven. Drive the nail through the Scotch tape. This plus care in using the hammer will keep the plaster from cracking around the nail hole. I have not tried this method and cannot say just how good it is.

Mr. Whitman offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning home repair work. If you would like to have his leaflet W9, on Refinishing Soft Wood Floors, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Roger C. Whitman, care of The Marion Star, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

LODGE TEAM COMING

A special Saturday night meeting of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., will be held at the Masonic temple with officers and the degree team of Euclid Lodge No. 599 of Cleveland as guests. The guests will confer the master mason degree for the Marion lodge. They are making the trip from Cleveland by chartered bus. Marion lodge will return the visit June 19.

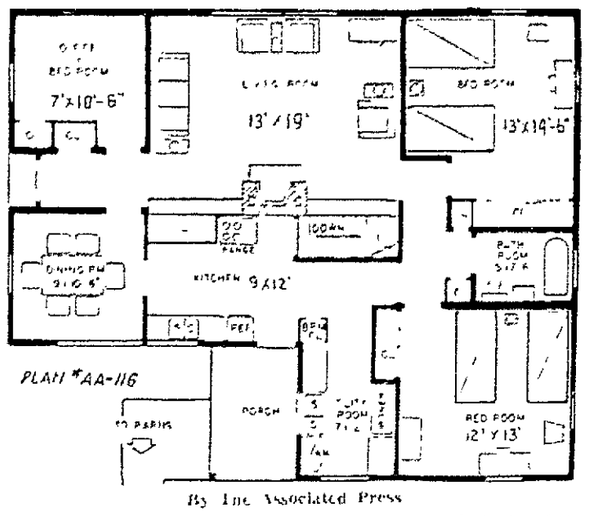
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

Planned for the farmer, this house does chores. Note the farm office near the front door, the utility room for laundry and canning, adjoining the kitchen, and the wide cellar stairs without a turn. This house, Plan AA-116, was designed by the Agriculture Associates, Inc., 25 Elm St., Ardsley, N. Y. It covers 1,200 square feet without porch and contains approximately 2,400 cubic feet with a complete basement. The designers suggest the bedrooms at the right facing north. This would bring morning sun in kitchen and dining room.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'LL need the help of both the powers you've invoked, if Faith wakens," I told Lillian. "And there'll be no saga of Sag Harbor until she shall go back to sleep again. No mouse is going to have anything on me as I go through her room. But you'd better put up a prayer or two."

"I'm already at my orisons," she retorted. "Suppose you get on with your errands."

"Simon Legree in person," I told her as I went through the door with the thrill at my heart which always comes to me when I am rejoining one of my children after an absence even as short as the one just past.

I did not dare touch Faith, but I sent a loving, longing glance at her curled up figure, outlined faintly by the dim night lamp, and then went swiftly and noiselessly into Dicky's room adjoining, where Lillian had said I should find my father.

I did not have to awaken him. The dim glow of the night light showed me his wide-open watching eyes, but, with his usual caution, he raised his right hand and pointed to the door between Dicky's room and Faith's before making a sound.

With infinite caution I closed the door noiselessly, switched on the light, and coming back to the bed, bent down and kissed him, while his arms went around me in a tight, loving embrace.

"Thank God, you're safely back!" he said. I don't know but I don't see how I ever am going to send you on another errand like this."

"Don't talk nonsense!" I told him with a smile. "Of course you are! You're not going to condemn me to a life with no thrills."

He returned my smile affectionately, but his eyes were still troubled.

"That spirit is your inheritance," he said. "Nevertheless—"

"Let's not talk about the nevertheless," I told him saucily. "Besides, there wasn't a single thrill on the trip except the amusement and amazement — which Georges provided. Not even any indication that caution was required, although Joe and Gus did not relax in their customary caution for a single instant."

"Good boys!" he commended. "And I am exceedingly glad you had no thrills." He smiled a bit impishly up at me then sobered. "Is there anything about Georges, I need to know?" he asked.

I sent a remembering thought back to Georges' antics and revelations. After all, my father was a man with such affairs of real importance weighing him down, that it were a crime to bother him with such inconsequential things as Georges' ravings.

"Very little. I told him 'He seems most subdued, and he and Mr. 'K' appear to get on very well.'"

"That is a great relief to me," he said. "I was afraid that Georges was going to be most difficult."

I breathed a wish that he never would know just how difficult the royal playboy had been as I told a tremendous tarradiddle.

"No, he really was most tractable," I said.

"I shall put a long credit mark opposite his name," he said smiling. "Did you find everything in good shape at the farm, and what arrangements did you make for the wedding?"

"Everything was in splendid shape," I said, knowing that the shade of Sapphira was looking at me in envy as I remembered Katie's atrocious tantrum and Jim's determination to take her away from the farm where she would trouble me no more.

"That is splendid," he said "but it has just occurred to me Katie will never be able to get the house ready for a wedding by herself and yet she never gets along with Mrs. Tyler, and we cannot have a stranger there. How are you going to solve that problem?"

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

VIEWS ON HOSPITAL

Editor of The Star: This is an open letter to Mayor Dowler and I hope he will please answer.

Dear Mr. Dowler: Please tell us what you have in mind for a site to the proposed new hospital. Maybe some kind heart will donate same.

A couple of years ago it was proposed to build a hospital by voluntary contributions. The Catholic bishop of Columbus offered to match dollar for dollar (a better deal than one for two by the government). What ever became of that deal and why was it turned down? It would seem to us that a voluntary contribution would be the fairest, as those who want the hospital most could show it by their contributions, which are also tax deductible, and also would not harness more taxes on the bending back of labor and those least able to pay.

Just why is a new hospital deemed necessary now? We were told that the addition would meet Marion's needs for many years. Did you pay for more than you got by the addition? With revaluation of property, inflation and world chaos, with worries and uncertainty of the future and taxes at an all time high, just how much do you think the average man can stand to pay?

If and when a campaign is started for a new hospital we favor an open democratic discussion of all sides of the question. It should not be a tax affair but one of contribution, where money talks as evidence of each contribution. It would seem far better to try to raise $500,000 by voluntary contribution and have it matched by the Bishop of Columbus and have thereby a private hospital rather than raise $666,000 through taxation of property owners and have a semi-political hospital which has given much dissatisfaction in the past.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

HERE'S an ABC on the 70-group air force, what it means, will mean, and why.

A group can be any number of planes, depending on their size. A group of heavy bombers will have fewer planes than a group of small fighters.

The air force now has 55 groups. Congress this week approved an increase to 70.

James Marlow

That doesn't mean we'd have the 70 groups next year. We wouldn't be up to 70 groups before 1952.

And that would cost billions of dollars. But, to get the picture, start from scratch.

Last year President Truman appointed five-man group, called the President's air policy commission, made a report called "Survival in the Air Age."

Among other things, the commission told the President:

An enemy nation—no one doubts Russia was meant—may have a lot of atomic bombs by 1953, enough to start a war.

If such a nation attacks us, the attack may be sudden. To be prepared we need a stronger air force than we have now. How strong?

AT LEAST 70 GROUPS by 1952, said the commission. To get that, we must start building up that air force now. Why?

Because, first, contracts for building the planes must be given to the manufacturers so they'll know how to plan production. Expanding the plants to make the planes takes time. There's no time to lose.

If the planemakers can build planes between now and 1952, they'll be all set with the machinery to turn out planes fast if we're attacked after 1952.

BACKED BY THE commission's recommendation, W. Stuart Symington, secretary for air, told congress we need a 70-group air force.

Mr. Truman didn't think we needed that many so soon. Neither did Secretary of Defense Forrestal. Forrestal said maybe a 66-group force would be all right.

But congress agreed with Symington and approved a 70 group air force. The bill passed by congress probably will reach Mr. Truman next week. He is expected to sign it into law.

Then the air force can start ordering the planes. It has its plans for the 70 groups ready.

AND THIS IS WHERE you have to look at a few figures to see what all this means.

When the U. S. air force was at its peak in World War II, it had 243 groups, or a total of about 12,000 combat planes.

Now it has 55 groups, with a total of 5,500 combat planes in active service and 7,500 in storage.

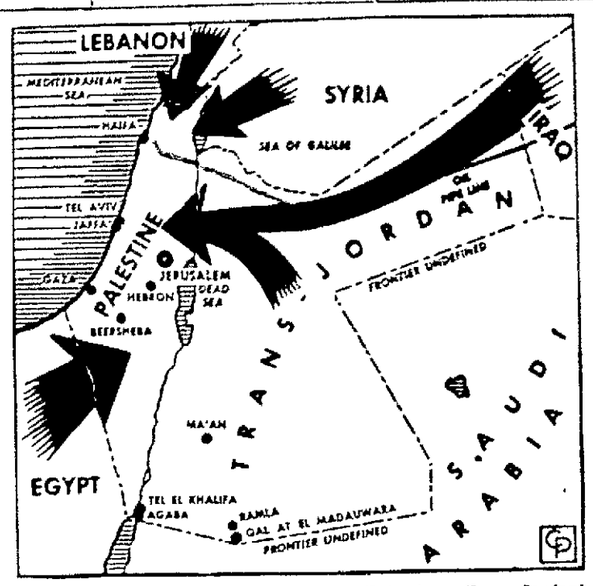
The 70 groups will call for 6,869 active combat planes and 8,100 in storage.

That doesn't just mean increasing the 5,500 planes in the 55 groups to 6,869 in 70 groups.

Year by year the older planes will have to be replaced to give this country the most up-to-date airforce in the world.

So, although the air force this year will order 2,727 planes, year after year between now and 1952—and year after year beyond that—it will have to keep on ordering thousands of planes.

The Associated Press



ARABS MOVE TOWARD PALESTINE. Arab "invasion day" plans concerning Palestine are reported to include these avenues of attack: Syrian and Lebanese troops to attack northern Palestine; Trans-Jordan's Arab legion and Iraqi troops to thrust into center of the Holy Land, and some 15,000 Egyptian troops to strike at southern Palestine.

FAMILY NIGHT HELD AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Approximately 150 persons, church school officers, teachers and families, attended the family festival night event held Wednesday night at Epworth Methodist church in keeping with the Christian family week observance.

A fellowship potluck supper was followed by a program in charge of C. H. Indoe, chairman of the church board of education. Devotions were conducted by Dr. Busler. A motion picture, "Beyond Our Own," was shown for the adults, and special cartoons were shown for the children. Plans were discussed for purchasing a moving picture projector for the church with Ralph Hurr presiding for the discussion. Prayer by Dr. Busler closed the meeting.

Fund To Boost TVA Electric Output Denied by House Group

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 8 — The house appropriations committee Friday turned down an administration request for money to step up the Tennessee Valley Authority's output of electricity.

The action drew the lines for a fight on the house floor over public versus private power production.

At direct issue is the TVA's request for $4,000,000 to start work on an $84,000,000 steam plant to generate electricity. That would enable TVA to supply all power demands in the seven-state Tennessee Valley area.

An indication of how bitter the fight may be when the issue reaches the house floor next week was the four-to-three vote of an appropriations subcommittee that first rejected the request.

The three Democratic members of the subcommittee signed a minority report condemning the action as "a backward step" and a possible threat to national defense.

But the full committee upheld the contention of the four Republicans on the subcommittee that the steam plant is not necessary. They argued that existing TVA generating facilities are adequate to supply "the foreseeable demands" congress intended them to supply.

The minority report was signed by Reps. Mahon of Texas, Whitten of Mississippi and Gore of Tennessee, Democrats. The majority views were written by Reps. Ploeser of Missouri, Jensen of Iowa, Coudert of New York and Clevenger of Ohio, Republicans.

Ohioans Protest Against "Cheapness"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 8—Protests that cheap, "subsidized" Tennessee Valley Authority power is luring industry from Ohio and other states to the TVA area have been made to a house appropriations subcommittee.

The committee Friday made public testimony heard recently concerning TVA requests for operating funds in the year starting July 1.

Raymond T. Jackson of Cleveland, counsel for the National association of electric companies, told the committee:

"I happen to be a resident of Ohio. As far as citizens of Ohio are concerned, at least some of them, the situation is this:

"We think that congress has created subsidized power in the Tennessee valley. We think that has taken industries there. We think that is unfair to us, who pay our own way, as well as pay taxes to contribute" to the cost of TVA.

"The thing that lures" outside industries to the TVA area, Jackson said, is "that they can get subsidized power."

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn), a TVA proponent, coountered "I do not suppose there is any law in Ohio against one being misinformed."

POPPY DAY SALE SET BY LEGION AUXILIARY

To Hold Annual Observance May 14 and 15.

Poppy Day will be observed May 14 and 15 with the annual sale of poppies by women of the American Legion auxiliary. This year the sale will be sponsored jointly by members of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162 and the auxiliary to GI Post No. 584. Heading the event as chairman are Mrs. Robert Brown of the Bird-McGinnis unit and Mrs. Peter Joyce of the GI Post auxiliary. Proceeds of the two-day sale this year, as in former years, will be used by the two groups to carry on the welfare program for veterans and their families in Marion.

Bird-McGinnis unit has 5,000 of the flowers to be disposed of and the GI post has 2,000. The flowers are made by disabled veterans of both World wars working under the supervision of the department of the auxiliary. The flowers to be sold here were made by veterans in the home at Sandusky.

Making these flowers has provided interesting employment for veterans at the hospital all winter and spring months, explained Mrs. Don DeLong, president of Bird-McGinnis auxiliary. "It has helped keep their hands and minds busy, relieving them of long hours of tedium and contributing its occupational therapy value toward their recovery."

The poppies are fashioned by hand, veterans working in their beds, in wheel chairs, or in occupational therapy shops. Materials are provided by the auxiliary and the finished products collected regularly by auxiliary workers. The flowers are made of crepe paper in replica of the little wild poppies of France and Flanders, which grew on the battlefields and cemeteries of the two World wars.

...anything can happen," ... In that they are about ...

The subway is more than a ...portation system that sews ...ty together. Some day it will have a Boswell to write its history, a Bobby Burns to sing its songs.

SOME NATIVES here when asked to give their place of birth can put down truthfully: "A subway station at So-and-So streets." A few have been born in the subway, many have died there. The roaring wheels—fascinating invitations to death for the life-sick—have extinguished the problems of living for hundreds of who put their nickel in the turnstile for a pass to eternity. Beginning July 1 it will cost a dime.

These "leapers" are the bane of subway workers and cops who must jack up the trains and lift out the dreamless flesh. This interrupts the schedule 10 to 20 minutes and angers thousands of riders who complain, "Why didn't he jump off a Brooklyn Bridge?"

The subway sometimes serves as a traveling store, home and concert hall for small-time opportunists. Romances have begun and ended in it. It is a place where cheap crooks make a living rolling drunks and grifters run floating crap games, moving from station to station every few hours to nick passersby.

THEORETICALLY, a man could live forever in the subway—a full, crowded life at that. He could mooch his eating money from fellow passengers, sleep at night on the warm seats and change his socks in the rest rooms, where he could also do his laundry. In times of depression men have saved rent money that way for weeks. Whole families have done it for days.

The subway is also often a home on the lam for people who want to hide out. But detectives know this is a "missing persons" refuge, and the subway is one of their regular beats.

The talented boy whose voice sounded swell in Keokuk but hasn't stirred an echo on Broadway often picks up small change yodeling to subway riders going home from the movies. Pitch men peddle novelty jewelry, wax flowers, neckties and song sheets. It is a wonderful place to buy fom a shabby bum a "hot diamond ring at a bargain" that is no diamond, no bargain, nor "hot."

THE SUBWAY has the city's largest circulating libraries—trash boxes in which readers stuff newspapers and others pluck them out for free.

At every point the subway touches the life of the city. There even is a theory that the subway is responsible for the Brooklyn accent—it is the only speech that will penetrate the noise of grinding wheels.

BLUE CROSS DRIVE OPENS HERE TODAY

Marion Water Co. Offices To Be Headquarters.

Monday marks the opening day of the second annual Marion Blue Cross community enrollment. Enrollment headquarters is in the Marion Water Co. offices.

According to J. A. Mautz, administrator of the Marion City hospital, the purpose of the community enrollment membership campaign each year is to allow self-employed persons, and those working where there are less than five in an employe group the opportunity for Blue Cross membership. This will be the only 1948 Marion campaign. Where there are more than five in a group, then the enrollment may be conducted on a payroll deduction basis for the employes at any time.

Blue Cross representatives will be on hand through Friday of this week to answer questions and accept applications for membership. Only residents of Marion county are eligible to enroll during this campaign.

The idea behind Blue Cross is to pay the member's expenses while confined to the hospital. The following services are paid 100 per cent for 30 days out of each contract year: room and board in a ward or semi-private room, general nursing service, special diets, operating room as often as needed, laboratory work done in hospital, drugs and medicines, vaccines, serum, penicillin, streptomycin, sulfa drugs, dressings, biologicals, oxygen, plaster casts and intravenous preparations.

There are now 30 million Blue Cross members, one out of four in this area being a member.

ROADS AWAIT AEC DECISION

Transfer of Highways To Depend on Needs of New Research Plant Here.

Until the atomic energy commission determines what roads it will need in the administration of its new installation return of approximately 14 miles of county roads in the Scioto Ordnance Works area to county jurisdiction will not be considered by the war assets administration, the county commissioners were informed today.

Melville C. Robinson, war assets administration deputy director in the regional office at Cincinnati, said in a letter to the commissioners:

"In contemplation of transfer of certain lands from the agency to the AEC, no action can be taken until the commission closes the transfer and specifically states its needs. When this is done, a conference between all interested parties will be arranged, giving consideration to future needs of the installation."

The Army engineers have no interest in the area at the present time other than the staff house area in use by the Engineers Depot, commissioners were informed in response to their request for return of the roads. They were told the balance of the area other than the areas turned over to the Ohio National Guard, the state welfare department and the ASC is still on the surplus list for disposal by the war assets administration.

Deputy Director Robinson's communication to the commissioners followed receipt of the county commissioners request turned over to the war assets administration for action by the Army engineers.

Robinson declined to state when his agency expected to complete the transfer of the 1,275 acres in the Ordnance area to the Atomic Energy Commission, and be in a position to take definite action on the Marion county request.

Bob Lemon Shows Up Bobby Feller On Mound

SHUTS OUT NATS 8-0 FOR 3RD WIN

Converted Fielder Tops Tribe Ace in Whiffs Too.

By The Associated Press

Bob Lemon is forcing Bobby Feller to take a back seat in the Cleveland wigwam. The converted infielder-outfielder with three wins in four starts—tops Rapid Robert in wins, complete games and even in strikeouts.

You probably could get at least 2 to 1 that Feller will wind up the season with more of each than Lemon, who is starting his second season as a full fledged pitcher Lemon, however, is not to be shrugged off as a spring phenomenon

In Farms 5 Years

Lemon banged around the Indians minor league farms for five years as a third baseman When he came back from the Navy in 1946, Manager Lou Boudreau shifted him from third to center field He was not a success, hitting 180 in 89 games. Then Boudreau, impressed by his strong arm, sent him to the bullpen In 32 games he won four and lost five.

BOB LEMON Better Than Feller

It looked as though Lemon was to be just another relief man last year until July 31 when Boudreau, in a moment of desperation, gave him a starting chance He responded with a win and reeled off 10 in the last half of the season for a fine 11-5 record. Experts predicted a great future.

Last night Lemon shut out Washington with four hits, 8-0, to lift the Tribe into second place, a half game behind Philadelphia.

While Lemon has been writing his own success story, Feller has been knocked out of the box in his last two starts Before that he threw a two-hit shutout and ran a string of 17 consecutive scoreless innings

And He Hits .533

In addition to his pitching, Lemon is hitting 533 with eight hits in 15 at bats, including two home runs

Cleveland-Washington was the only game in the American league yesterday. Rain washed out the Detroit at New York, Chicago at Philadelphia and St Louis at Boston dates. It also forced postponement of the New York at Pittsburgh night game in the National

Cincinnati suffered a severe blow when it lost the services of Dwell Blackwell, for an indefinite period The Reds' elongated pitching ace injured his right shoulder and left the ball game in the sixth inning An X-ray examination today will determine the extent of the injury

Blackwell, who has failed to go the route in four of his five starts, was charged with the loss as Boston's Bill Volselle eked out a 4-3 edge for his third straight win

Brooks Walk Over Cubs

Brooklyn made use of 14 walks by Chicago pitchers to outlast the Cubs, 9-5 in a game that dragged through three hours and 36 minutes. Preston Ward, Dodger rookie first baseman, actually won the game with a triple off reliefer Ralph Hamner after Hamner had loaded the bases with three passes in the sixth

The St Louis Cardinals subdued the Philadelphia Phils 7-1 in a night game for Howie Pollet's first win in three starts Dutch Leonard the Phils' top pitcher was injured when struck by a line drive off the bat of Red Schoendienst in the third inning He was forced to leave the game but was not believed seriously hurt

BLACKIE INJURED AS BRAVES WIN, 4-3

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI May 8—There was gloom in the Cincinnati Reds' camp today Blackie was on the injured list

Blackie—Ewell Blackwell, star of the Redleg pitching staff—suffered an injury to his right shoulder yesterday as the Reds bowed to the Boston Braves, 4-3 An X-ray examination was to be made today to determine the seriousness of the injury, but at best it appeared the six-foot six-inch hurler would be lost to the club for an indefinite period

BLACKWELL Has Sore Arm

The big right-hander left the game in the sixth inning with the score tied, 2-2, and the bases loaded

He told Newsmen later that his shoulder "pained me so much in the fifth and sixth innings that it felt like someone was stabbing it with a sharp knife"

Harry Gumbert took over for Blackwell and promptly was clipped for two-run single by second sacker Eddie Stanky The runs were charged against Blackwell and were enough to hand him his third straight defeat as against two victories.

Manager Johnny Neun said after he had no thought of replacing Blackwell even though the bases were loaded, and did so only after his star hurler had told him of the injury

Home runs featured the contest Ted Kluszewski Cincinnati first baseman connected for one in the ninth inning after third baseman Bob Elliott and left fielder Jeff Heath had done the same for their side in the game

The Milwaukee Brewers, whose potent bats have kept them only 2½ games behind league-leading Indianapolis, relied upon some fancy pitching to chalk up their eighth triumph in 10 starts at home last night

Last Night's Game with Portsmouth Washed Out.

The Marion Cubs will meet the Springfield Giants on the Lincoln Park diamond at 7:45 tonight, after being idle for the second straight day by rain

All other games in the Ohio-Indiana league were washed out last night, leaving the standings the same as they were at the end of Wednesday night's action—Muncie on top, Marion and Portsmouth tied for second, Springfield third, Richmond and Zanesville tied for fourth, and Lima and Newark bring up the rear

Manager Zeke Bekeris, who suffered a broken bone in the right hand in the game at Springfield Wednesday won't be able to play for a month or six weeks, but will do his managing from the bench

His choice for a starting pitcher tonight is 19-year-old Fred Wensing of Racine, Wis, who was to have started against Portsmouth Thursday or Friday nights

The Cubs will play two games Sunday, the first starting at 2 p m and the second at the regular 7:45 evening time, and on Monday, they'll meet Portsmouth to make up one of the rained-out games The Monday game, an open date on the schedule until now, will start at 7:45 p m

At the second meeting of the Marion Softball Commission May 3, several decisions were reached regarding this season's softball play, Bob Minard, secretary announced today.

Opening day for the YMCA leagues will be May 17 with four games on tap and the teams and fields yet to be scheduled Arranging for enough fields to accommodate all of the teams has created a problem

A meeting of all team managers will be held at the YMCA next Tuesday night at 8 p m at which time Bob Kelly, chairman of the rules committee, will be present to interpret all rule changes and new rules effective this year All managers are urged to attend this session

11 BOUTS CARDED ON ARMORY BILL

Springfield, Columbus, Mansfield Boxers To Meet Locals.

By BILL MURPHY

The Marion Trainers Association has arranged a top-notch schedule for the Armory's Wednesday night fight program These will be the first fights for over two weeks and they promise to furnish plenty of action.

Swinging into town will be four boxers from Springfield, four from Columbus and four from Mansfield plus several others from adjoining circuits, to do battle with local ringmen

Interesting Bout

Welterweight Jack Seckinger is scheduled for the bout, most likely to interest the local fight fans as he climbs through the ropes to oppose Robert Sampson of Springfield in the main event This fight should settle the controversy that was created when Sampson took a decision from Seckinger in the AAU bouts several months ago at Toledo Many fans thought that Seck had been hornswoggled

Seckinger has lost only two decisions over a period of four and a half months, one being one of them and the other at the hands of Tony Johnson of Columbus in his last showing at the Armory He met Jack Bill (Torpedo) Tuttle of Mansfield in his last appearance a week ago at the Mansfield Fraternal House Bobo Johnson is to be on Wednesday's card

'Torpedo' will meet Harold Watkins in a match that should end another controversy — that of whether a wrong decision was rendered Seckinger's foot slipped as he was about to land a left hook to the head of Tuttle and Referee Bob Johnson ruled it a foul Tuttle will

Cubs Acquire 3rd Southpaw Pitcher

The Marion Cubs acquired another left handed pitcher yesterday when Sioux Falls of the Class C Northern league sold the local ball club Frank Marchelli.

That brings to three the number of local portside twirlers. Si Pavkov and John Graney are the others.

Marchelli was sold outright to the Marion Cubs since the Sioux Falls club had already used up their options. They had five southpaws on their mound staff and had to get rid of one of them, sending Marchelli to Marion with a good recommendation.

Roy Hollingshead, who played for the Marion Cubs last year, is with Sioux Falls this season and started off the season with a bang this week by getting two for six. He showed up well in the field, too.

Coaltown Will Join Citation in Preakness

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 8—Warren Wright paid $6,000 to enter a pair of horses in next Saturday's Preakness. He's figuring on getting his money back—at about 1,750 per cent interest.

Most horsemen figure he's figuring correctly. The pair happens to be Citation and Coaltown.

The news that the two top three-year-olds would renew their racing duel in the great classic at Pimlico was announced in Louisville yesterday by General Manager Ben Jones of Warren Wright's Calumet Farm.

A one-two Calumet finish would return $105,000 or better.

NO DEBATE LIKELY

By The Associated Press

MEDFORD, Ore., May 8—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York turned his back again today on a challenge from Harold E. Stassen to debate issues from the same platform in Oregon. The challenge came on a radio program last night in which Stassen said he was willing to fly to Oregon for the debate. Dewey himself had no comment, but his aides made it clear a debate was not in prospect. They said there was not even a plan for Dewey to meet his rival for Oregon's Republican votes.

The Marion County BANK

Has maintained one policy for itself and its customers for over a century:

THRIFT FOR ALL

. . . make every dollar buy 100 cents worth, and

Save Wherever It's Possible

It's a policy that always "pays off." No one was ever hurt by having "money in the bank." And it's not hard to do if you never spend money before you get it nor spend more than you receive. Saving should be as much a part of your financial life as food and clothing are of your daily life. It can be done by anyone who decides to do it—make savings one of your principal objectives. It is certainly worth a trial.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

HARRY TRUMAN, born May 8, 1884, in Lamar, Mo., inherited and holds what is generally conceded to be the world's hardest job as President of the United States. Among the big problems with which he has had to grapple were the end of the costliest war in history, the atomic bomb, the formation and functioning of the United Nations, Communist infiltration of Europe and domestic inflation and strikes. Recently he announced his willingness to run for reelection.
